LA Art Show 2025: Celebrating Three Decades of International Art

The LA Art Show will hold its 30th Anniversary edition from February 19-23, 2025, at the Los Angeles Convention Center. Producer Cassandra Voyagis and her team are curating an international selection of galleries for the event.

This month, we spotlight three confirmed international galleries that represent the show's global reach: LICHT FELD Gallery from Basel, Switzerland; Gama Gallery from Istanbul, Turkey; and Olivia Connelly Gallery from London, UK.

LA Art Show 2025 aims to foster connections between artists, galleries, and collectors, bringing together the global art community in Los Angeles. Read on to discover more about this month's featured international galleries and their planned contributions to LA Art Show 2025.

Gallery Highlights

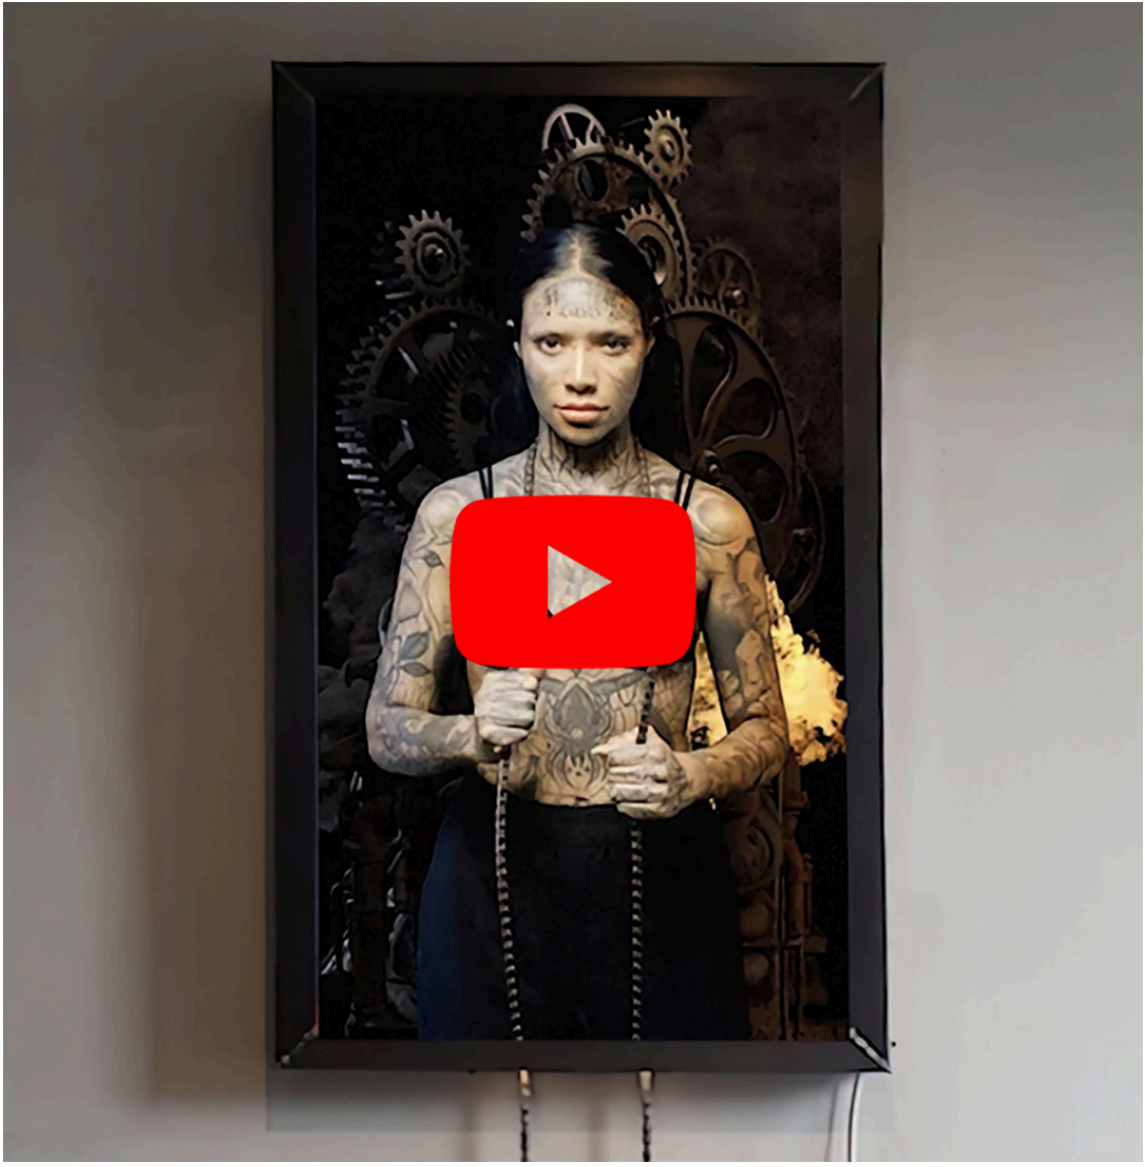

LICHT FELD Gallery, Basel, Switzerland

LICHT FELD Gallery, established in 2001 in Basel, Switzerland, specializes in modern and contemporary art. The gallery showcases paintings, video sculptures, performances, and special projects.

LICHT FELD started as an annual event at Gundeldinger Feld and has gained significant global recognition over the past 23 years.

At LA Art Show 2025, LICHT FELD will present new video works from artist MARCK. Click here to view a video of MARCK's video sculpture.]

Gama Gallery, Istanbul, Turkey

Gama Gallery, founded in 2009 by Şule Claire Altıntaş, showcases various artistic forms including painting, multimedia art, conceptual art, and performance.

The gallery represents established and emerging European, North American, and Turkish artists. Gama aims to support emerging artists in Turkey while introducing international artists to Istanbul's contemporary art scene, fostering artistic and cultural exchange.

The gallery will be bringing works by Turkish artists, Evren Temel, Hakan Esmer and Tuba Önder Demircioğlu. Visit gamagallery.art to learn more about Gama Gallery.
